Preface

IN our philosophy of life, we see our school as a highway with pavements and detours, with straight sections and "cowpaths," taverns and "roadhouses," with helpful drivers and "road hogs." So, we have attempted to portray our philosophy by using as the theme of the 1930 Caldron the Road to Success with its various aides; the clubs, the classes, the faculty, and the other students. The pleasures of the journey, the hardships the traveler encounters are herein portrayed.

Dedication

WE dedicate this Caldron of 1930 to Miss Margaret S. Cochrane, the oldest living graduate of Central High School. In the class of 1865, of which Miss Cochrane is the sole survivor, there were three others: Emma L. Baldwin, Marian E. Humphrey and Abbie J. Sharp. This former Centralite is now residing at 544 Packard Avenue, Fort Wayne. Miss Cochrane has seen more than seventy years of Central's existence. May she enjoy many more, and continue to see Central occupy a place of prominence in the state.

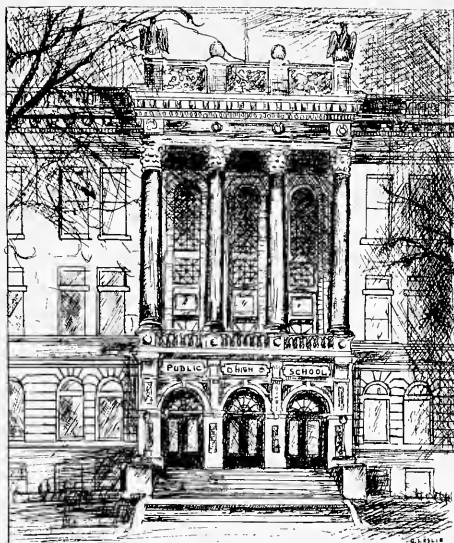

Mary Weaver and Burton Homsher portray Beauty; beauty of the old gray building; beauty of the traditions of Central; beauty of youthful exuberance; beauty of the surroundings of the school—beauty which adds so much to the character of a man—beauty which helps a person to stay on top in the struggle of life.

THE GROWTH OF OUR SCHOOL

Mary Elizabeth Crosbie

The Road to Success is often crooked and misleading. A small by-path may also lead the unwary stranger astray. Perseverance and persistence overcome many obstacles and not the least of these is the tortuous upward struggle which has been made to obtain and keep our high school. The peacefulness of its halls, the excellence of its courses of studies are dear to all the students of Central High School. These things are the result of many years of labor.

In 1852, under the school law, the first board of School Trustees was appointed in Fort Wayne and the first public school was established. The next ten years were known as the "Dark Ages" with regard to progress of public education in Fort Wayne, due to the little support given the new institution. Things were gradually brought to a better working condition by the year of 1865, when the first class of four girls was graduated from Fort Wayne High School. The building was a small "frame" affair located where the Jefferson School now stands.

The increasing number of pupils called attention to the inadequacy of the building and in 1886 the new building on East Wayne Street was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies. The Dedicatory hymn mentioned the "lofty and spacious halls of the new High School" (to us the old High School). The building was so commodious that the first floor was occupied by the training school, the third floor was equipped as a gymnasium, while the second floor alone met the needs of the high school.

In 1878 certain movements in legislature, unfriendly to High School interests, caused the board to change the name of "High School" to "Central Grammar School." However, the original name was soon restored. From 1863 to 1879, the school had eight principals. Mr. C. C. Chamberlin served from 1863 to 1865, being succeeded by Mr. Zacariah Taylor, Mr. Leonard Wilcox, Mr. B. T. Smith, Mr. C. E. Woods, Mr. Robert McNiece, Mr. Robert Wright, and Mr. Charles Latham. Professor C. T. Lane became principal in 1879 and was succeeded by Mr. L. C. Ward in 1915. Mr. Voorhees was next in 1921, then Mr. Croninger, a teacher of mathematics, became principal in 1922.

The gymnasium was converted into an auditorium and recitation rooms for Drawing. The Training School was abolished in 1886 and the transfer of the ninth grade to the High School made it necessary to convert the third floor into a session room with adjacent recitation rooms. Another necessary addition to the building was built in 1898. In 1902 the total enrollment was 420 and this necessitated the erection of the present building.

This new building was considered one of the finest of its kind in Indiana. There was a "gym" and the school still had the very best equipments for manual training and domestic science as well as one of the very best courses in the state. A noticeable increase in enrollment was apparent in 1902.

Lovely Walls of Gray

Stairs That Upward Lead

The students, faculty, and friends of Central High School have every reason to be proud of its science "labs," drawing course, session room, and heating system. The co-operative course of study is not only an advance in public education but is also extremely popular with the youth of today.

The school board was not farsighted enough in 1902, so in 1922 the South Side High School was opened while, due to the establishment of several commissioned and credited high schools in the county, the attendance from outside the city was diminished.

The future of Central High School does not rest in buildings, in equipment, in physical advantages of any kind but rests in devotion to duty on the part of the faculty and the enthusiasm, ambition, and the scholarship of the students.

The next section of the book is devoted to Strength. Florence Rhine and Albert Franke are the students symbolizing this. In athletics, we have attempted to show most of the means of strengthening the sinews and muscles of the body to better prepare one for his walk on the Road to Success.

COACH MENDENHALL

"Where does the center go on this play?"

"Which man does the tackle block out?"

"Who takes that kind of a fly?"

"How many steps between hurdles?"

This is just a part of the jumble of questions that are fired at our coach, Murray Mendenhall, who has the almost super-human task of handling three of the four major sports of our Tigers. Mendy, through a period of six years, has produced teams that are classed with the best in the state.

In his quiet way he instills in the boys the desire to do things and this fighting spirit has brought fame to Central. As Mendy himself plays on independent teams, he understood the problems that the boys encounter. Mendy always has a kind word for the team members and is well-liked by the fellows as well as by the entire student body.

Besides handling the teams he also conducts the boys' gym classes from which he gathers prospective material. Murray has the uncanny power of producing varsity squads from seemingly impossible material.

Good luck for many more superlative teams in the future, Mendy!

HONOR TIGER GRIDMEN

At the close of the football season it is customary to elect an honorary captain for the season. This year Pete Vincenski was elected captain for the 1929 season. Pete played on the football squad four years and he was one of the best line men that Central put out. He was also given honorable mention on the all-state team. Pete well deserved being named football captain for the 1929 grid season.

Central was again honored this season by having Lyons named on the all-state team. This was the second time in the history of Central that a Tiger man was named on an all-state team. Besides Lyons, Buggs and Vincenski were given honorable mention for their splendid showing on the gridiron.

ON THE GRIDIRON

Central Tigers had the most successful season that the Blue and White school has ever had. Coach Murray Mendenhall's team went through the regular playing season winning all of their eight games by impressive scores. After the final regular game, it was decided that Coach Keith Crown's Horsemen should play the Tigers for the mythical state football championship. On Saturday, November 23, the Blue and White met their Waterloo. The Tigers, outweighed, were defeated by the Horace Mann team, 38-0.

On September 21, the Tigers traveled to Warsaw, to play the Tigers of that place. Central was the stronger of the two Tiger teams, and defeated Warsaw by the score of 67-0. Buggs was the individual scoring star of the game when he crossed the zero line five times. Lyons and Franke each scored twice, while Babb scored on a long run.

The following Friday, our Tigers took Bluffton into their lair by a score of 94-6. The Blue and White team functioned perfectly, and our backfield ran rough shod over the Bluffton Tigers. Lyons set a record in this game when he made nine points-after-touchdowns for the Blue and White team.

For the first time in six years, Central defeated Elkhart, by the score of 40-6. Central outplayed the big Elkhart team all the way. After the Tigers once got started they could not be stopped. Buggs was again the outstanding scorer, when he made five touchdowns. The Avalanches' only score came when Ronzone went over for a touchdown.

With the weather man providing a day better suited for a swimming match than a gridiron contest, the first intra-city game of the year was played with the North Side Redskins, who were beaten 14-6. The game was hard fought throughout and the slippery condition of the field always kept the outcome of the game in doubt.

The Tigers' next game was played against the Decatur

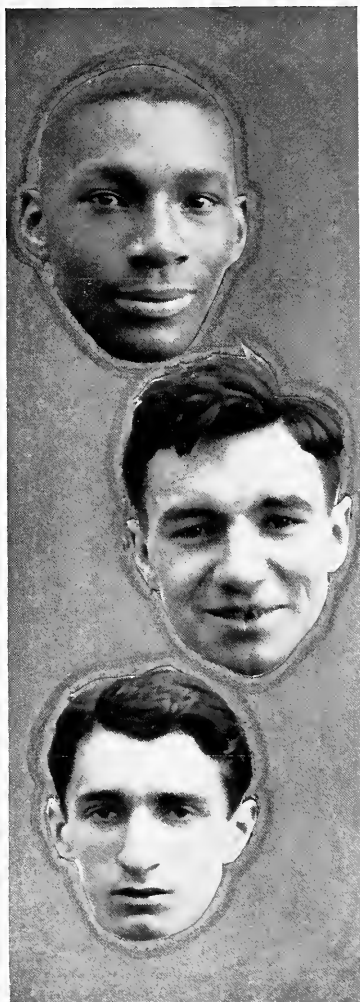

Yellowjackets at the North Side field. The reserves, who played the first half, ran up an 18-0 score. Another Central record was shattered when Mendy sent in the first string men, and they scored 28 points in eight minutes. The final score was 46-0.

On the following Friday, Coach Mendenhall traveled with his proteges to Garrett, where the Tigers ran rough shod over the Railroaders. When the final gun went off, the Tigers were out in front with a score of 59-0.

The next game was played with the South Side Archers. For the third time in seven years the Tigers defeated the Green and White, to the tune of 31-0. The line opened up big holes in the Archers' line for the Central's back to plunge through for big gains. Babb started the scoring when he returned a punt 80 yards for a touchdown. During the second half, Franke crossed the goal line three times, and Lyons intercepted an Archer pass and ran 98 yards for the other score of the game. This gave Central the N. E. I. C. championship for the second time in two years. Central also won the city championship.

The Concordia Cadets were our last victims of the season. The outcome of the game was never in doubt, and the Central backfield crossed the Cadets' zero line seven times. Buggs made two touchdowns. Johnson, Sheets, Jennings, Lyons, Babb, and Vincenski each crossed the goal line once. The final tally was 49-0.

The final game was played with the Horace Mann team of Gary for the mythical state championship. Long before the first kick-off the South Side stadium was packed to overflowing. Horace Mann brought down a heavy and fast team to stack up against the light but also fast team of Central. Long before the game was over, it was seen that Gary had too much weight for Central. However, they had to fight for every touchdown and yard. When the gun finally went off, they held a 38-0 advantage.

THE NET SEASON

Won 15 of 20 season games, city championship, sectional championship, regional title, and state tourney entrants! This is the enviable record of our fighting Central Tigers.

The first game of the season was with the Horsemen of Gary and the old jinx sent us back with a 34-18 defeat.

Angola was our first victim. The old Blue offense got going and rolled up 52 points to the Angola squad's 29. The Redskins were no opposition for us and we won our first city tilt by a 43-13 tally.

The Garrett Railroaders gave us a scare when they staged a last half rally to lessen the 11-1 lead we held but we pulled out with a 29-20 victory. A large crowd followed the team.

The delayed offense of Mooseheart had little effect on the fast-moving Tigers and Bobilya led us to a 35-24 win. Urged on by the band and a crowd of rooters the fellows just nosed out a 42-41 victory over Auburn in an overtime tilt.

The Winamac cagers, state entrants last year, didn't present as much opposition as expected. The result—Central 27, Winamac 20.

The seventh consecutive win came at the expense of the Vikings of Huntington. The five spurred in the last period to score a 34-22 win.

Kendallville was the second to take the measure of the Blue. Two foul shots as the gun cracked gave them a 26-24 edge. The Red Devils later went to the state.

The Archers gave the Tigers some trouble and a 17-12 lead at half-time had to be overcome before we eked out a 32-28 win.

After a valiant but futile rally in the last period the Tigers were forced to give up to the Decatur Yellow Jackets. Score 33-30.

We again got back into the win column by vanquishing the Circus City crew from Peru, 28-24.

Our total of 83 made the Eagles' 23 points look sick. Fitz scored 27 points in this game with Columbia City.

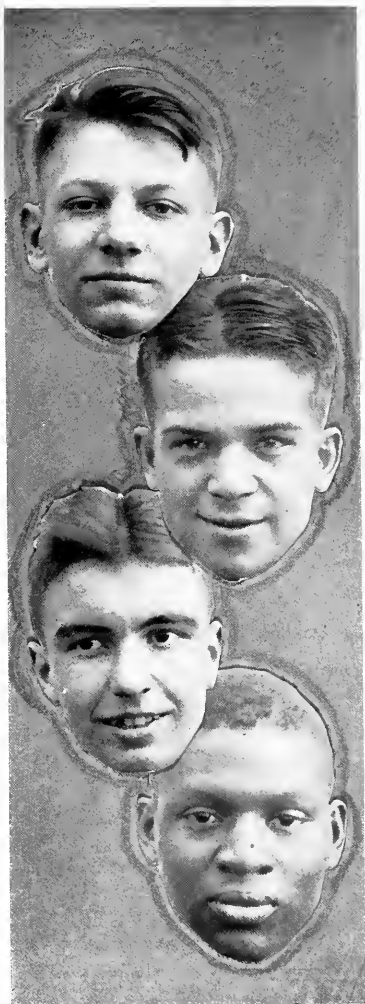

Franke led a brilliant last half rally to overcome the three-point lead held by the Redskins and to put over a 29-20 win on North Side.

When the Bluffton Tigers met our Fighting Central Tigers, the latter proved stronger and a crushing 41-19 defeat was administered to Bluffton.

That dreadful delayed offense proved to be our Waterloo

when Anderson beat us in a hard-fought match. Our Tigers just couldn't get started for the first ten minutes, but when they did they gave the Anderson men a good fight. The Indians held the long end of a 36-27 count when the game ended.

Elkhart showed little opposition and we put over a 55-28 win on the Blue Avalanche.

Then came revenge for the defeat handed us by the Horsemen. We finally put over our first win on a Gary squad. The Norsemen of Emerson came here and took the worst beating that a Gary school has ever suffered. We completely outclassed them as the 44-12 score indicates.

THROUGH THE SECTIONAL

Although Central drew the hard part of the schedule, our Tigers brought us through after several hair-raising tilts. The team was on its toes at all times and was always ready to take the breaks of the game.

The mettle of the team was proved when they met the strongest team in northern Indiana, Decatur, in the first game. The fastest game ever seen on the local court followed and after the battle royal was over, the scoreboard said Central 19, Decatur 16. The team worked together perfectly on offense and screwed down the defense so tightly that only one Yellow Jacket got more than one bucket.

The fellows rested as the Reserves were beating the Leo Lions, 49-25.

Then came another battle royal. South Side was our opponent. It was anybody's game till the final gun went off and we had won 17-16. The Archers kept in the running by their ability at the foul line as we outscored them 8 to 5 from the field.

Then we advanced to the Regional by easily beating the Redskins by the tally of 32-16.

ON TO STATE

Huntington was our opponent in the afternoon game of the regional. And what a time we had getting past them! The Vikings ran up 8 points at the start of the game while we had but one. The Liberty Center Lions offered little resistance in the final game and we won by a score of 30-13. At last we could discard the old cry "On to the State" and use the new one "Take the State!"

AT THE BUTLER FIELD HOUSE

Frankfort, last year's state champs, were our opponents in the first game. Starting off strong, the fellows slashed their way through the defense of the Hotdogs to hold a 13-9 lead at the end of the first canto. In the second half Frankfort got going and as soon as they overcame our lead they dropped back into the old slow-breaking offense and began sinking them but, as Mr. Croninger says, "I still think we won that game." The fellows were giving all they had but it wasn't quite enough to stop the rushing Hotdogs. The score was 31-19. The fellows never stopped fighting, though!

FIGHTING TIGERS

FITZ LYONS, high scorer of the squad, instills the pep in the fellows. The squad elected him honorary captain this year. Fitz's graduation will be noticed considerably.

AB FRANKE, winner of the King Trophy, was a good guard and kept the fellows fighting all the time. Dutch also graduates.

FUZZ HIMMELSTEIN, playing varsity ball for his first year, distinguished himself as the sniper of the quintet.

CHUCK BOBILYA, forward, found himself in his senior year and played good ball all season.

NAT BUGGS, our stellar guard, will be back next year. Buggs seldom loses his man.

AL JENNINGS is noted for his long shots but could also slip under the basket when least expected to.

HOWEY CRONINGER, a junior, likes to tip them in from directly under the bucket and is quite adept at it.

BOBBIE WEISS, the scoring star of the Reserves, got into a few varsity matches and worked well.

JIM NASH is a center and sure can pop the old leather right through the hoop.

RALPH SHEETS is one of the reasons for the low scoring of opponents. Sheets could also put them in from the center of the floor.

OUTSTANDING ATHLETES

ROBERT DORNTE

VAN JENKINS

The Central blankets indicative of outstanding work in athletics were awarded to Van Jenkins and Bob Dornte last year. Van and Bob performed admirably most of their high school careers on all four of the major teams. Football, basketball, track, and baseball have all included the names of these two huskies on their rosters.

Mary Masterson and Florence Koegel received the sweaters which are given to the girls who are outstanding in athletic work. The three highest in point standing receive the sweaters, if each has more than 700 points, won by after-school activities. When only one or two girls have this rating, only one or two sweaters are given.

MARY MASTERSON
FLORENCE KOEGEL

Albert Franke

KING TROPHY WINNER

Each year it has become the custom at Central to present to a member of the basketball team, a trophy given by Dr. E. A. King, the loyal trainer of the Tigers. Doc started this award three years ago. It is a silver basketball on a base of the same material, on which are engraved the names of Mutt Jasper, Dave Bash, and Bob Dornte.

This year the fellow chosen as the most outstanding in athletic ability, scholarship and mental attitude is none other than our old reliable guard, Albert Franke. His fighting spirit, as well as his ability to sink the leather, has brought the Tigers through many a tough tilt. This spirit he transmitted to all the other members of the squad, so that the old Fighting Central banner is still waving gayly.

Ab is also active in all the other major sports. This year he captained the football squad through a one-defeat season.

Mendy will have a job next year of filling "Dutch's" position. Keep up the good work, Franke.

MINOR SPORTS

Central was represented on the tennis court last year for the fourth year. A great deal of interest was shown in that year's court team and many boys turned out for this sport. A tennis tournament was held to determine the boys that should represent the school in this summer sport.

The Tigers won three of our seven matches and tied one with the South Side team. On May 1, the Tigers defeated Bluffton at the Parlor City. They next took the Garrett racquet wielders into camp, but on May 11 the Huntington Vikings gave them their first set-back. Bluffton turned the tables on the Tigers when they came here and defeated the Tiger team. In the first city games, South Side defeated them, while the second match was even. The boys who represented Central were: Joe Williams, Calvin Marhenke, Ralph Henschen, Paul Fruechtenicht, and William Cunningham. Mr. Charles Turpin was coach.

For the second time in the history of the school, Central was represented on the golf links. The Tigers played six matches and lost but two of these. Both matches were lost to the Marion team. However, they evened these defeats by beating South Side twice and winning city championship. The boys who made up Central's team on the links were: Gordon Davidson, Robert Coar, Dick Rousseau, Howard Croninger, and Dick Erb. Mr. Lester Hemphill served in the capacity of faculty sponsor.

The Central Rifle team had their names engraved on the Dickens cup twice, and last year they wanted to win the city championship and bring the cup to Central permanently. After the final shot had been fired and the score counted, it was found that the Tiger team had received the greatest number of points, and therefore, was awarded the cup. The boys who helped Central win another loving cup to place in her trophy case were: Walter Hoffman, Thomas Ember, Reinhold Alwardt, and Sam Brouse. Mr. Harry Veatch was faculty sponsor.

TRACK

With Croninger, Lyons, Buggs, and Babb back to form a nucleus for the 1930 thinly clad squad Mendy succeeded in building up a team that rolled up good scores in all their meets. Maloley, C. Jones, Vogelsang, Weinberg, Beyerlein, Alexander, Hill, and McBride are some of the new men who showed up well.

The Central Tigers opened their 1930 track schedule with a loss in the triangular meet with Elkhart and Mishawaka at Elkhart on April 11. It was the first meet for the Blue and White team and they placed in but six events. Babb was high-point man for Central in this meet with 12 points. Lyons and Buggs each scored five points by firsts in the shot put and broad jump, respectively. Croninger made the other point by taking third in the low hurdles.

With a total of 25 points we tied for third with the Archers in the South Side Relays held the next week at the stadium. The football lettermen's relay team and Buggs starred with blue ribbon places in the football relay and the broad jump. The shuttle hurdle relay squad took second in its event.

The entire schedule follows:

April 11—Elkhart and Mishawaka at Elkhart.

Summary: Central placed third getting 22 points while Elkhart, the winner garnered 53.

April 18:—South Side Relay at stadium.

Summary: Auburn won the meet with 38 markers while the Blue and White with 25 points tied the South Side squad for third.

April 25—Bluffton, Decatur, and Huntington at Bluffton.

May 3—City Meet.

May 10—N. E. I. C. Meet.

May 17—Sectional Meet.

May 24—State Meet at Indianapolis.

Standing—Robert Weiss, Carl Zick, Albert Pelz, Hilbert Menze.

Kneeling—Harold Lickey, Elijah McDonald, Roland Noble, Edward Erb, Fitzhugh Lyons, Coach Lester Hemphill.

Sitting—Royale Stauffer, Morris Himmelstein, Charles Bobilya, William Hattendorf, Sam Bernstein.

THE DIAMOND SPORT

With a number of veterans back from last year's hard-hitting nine, the baseball fellows started off the season right by beating the Bluffton crew by a 14 to 3 score. The Bluffton nine had won four successive games.

Fitz Lyons, one of last year's veterans, turned out and ably took care of the initial sack. Royale Stauffer showed his ability as a pitcher as he let down the Bluffton crew without a hit in six innings. When not flinging the horsehide, Royale took care of his old position, second base. "Fuzz" Himmelstein, a new man on the diamond, stepped into the vacancy left by Jenkins at the shortstop post and proved that he could get everything that came between second and third. Bill Hattendorf, the heavy hitter of the Blue diamonders, took care of business around third base and proved himself a hot handler of the hot sack. Behind the bat, McDonald worked like a veteran. Bobilya, Menze, and Stauffer were pitchers this season and showed their ability at flinging them past the bats of bewildered opposing nines. Weaver, Zick, Lickey, Weiss, Noble, D. Erb, Pelz, Bernstein, and H. Jennings were some of the men who stepped into action when any one of the regulars was unable to play.

The team was ably coached by Lester Hemphill, teacher of auto mechanics, who was a star baseball player when he was in school.

The schedule of games is as follows:

April 28	South Side .....	Central .....
May 6	Ligonier .....	Central .....
May 9	Columbia City .....	Central .....
May 12	South Side .....	Central .....
May 16	Ligonier .....	Central .....
May 21	Bluffton .....	Central .....

CHEER LEADERS

Led by a quartet of snappy cheer leaders, Central's pep this year fully measured up to traditional Central standards. Hoy McConnell with the "Novelty" made the rafters ring, while Dick Vogelsang with that yell of yells, "Central Chant," threw our opponents into consternation coming as it does just as the team goes into the huddle. Larry Levy, it seems, has adopted "Ee-ya" for, as sure as he is on the floor, we are bound to hear his lusty voice calling for "Ee-ya, Ee-ya." Bob Hoffman cuts a keen figure leading good old "Blue, White, Tigers Fight."

The school has profited at Larry's first and last year of cheer leading, and all are sorry to lose him. Bob, Dick, and Hoy remain next year to carry on. They have proved themselves this year, so Central is confident of a successful peppy season next year.

Mr. Howard Michaud is the capable "man behind the pep." A number of clever and inspiring cheer sessions have been held under his tutelage. Mr. Michaud is well liked by the students as a whole and especially by the "pep quartet." Hats off to this clever and resourceful teacher!

Ingrid Campbell

CENTRAL'S "SODY"

Last year the girl's gym teacher was Ingrid Soderlund, but this year she is Mrs. Campbell. However she is the same person. The nickname "Sody" sticks to her in spite of her new name.

Mrs. Campbell has taught at Central for three years, coming here from the Bloomingdale School faculty. She received an A.B. degree from Coe College at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. After taking a post graduate course in physical education at the Chicago Normal School and attending Iowa University, "Sody" taught physical education at Bellevue, Iowa, at Kendallville, and Fort Wayne.

The years' program for the Tigerettes has become most interesting in the last few years. In the fall, volleyball tournaments provide plenty of amusement for the girls. Mrs. Campbell has a knack for getting up good tournaments, and, therefore, basketball and baseball are made much more attractive to the girls.

Mrs. Campbell's untiring effort has made the annual gym exhibitions very popular with the students. She is also faculty advisor of C.G.A.A.

TUMBLING

Talk about action and plenty of it! Even though this is only the second year for tumbling, the tumblers certainly display some quantity of said action and pep. They have done much to reach the present point of perfection. Before we know it, Central will look at her tumblers as almost the greatest produced. Wouldn't that be grand?

Th's class, however, has not been very large, but all have worked hard and diligently. Much credit is due their coach, Mrs. Ingrid Campbell.

The team, which gave exhibitions at the Parent Teachers' meeting in November and at the Woman's Club, consists of Roberta Aldred, Mary Alice Anspach, Maxine Bradtmiller, Marjorie Brighton, Virginia Brittenham, Garnet Gerlock, Lillian Lorenz, Virginia Mason, Dorothea Meyer, Carlene Monroe, Flo Pio, Kathleen Robinson, Dorothy Sutton, Cecelia Romary, and Anne Ferguson. Mrs. Campbell also has many good prospects for the tumbling team who are: Dorothy Barbour, Glenna Brinsley, Bernice Click, Bonnie Crandall, Kathryn Denney, Martha Fox, Ruth Harnishferger, Dorothy Martin, Esther Master-son, Sara Masterson, Lois Mawhorr, Theo Merri-man, Eileen Meyer, Maxine Monroe, Lela Reppert, Pauline Roe, Esther Sams, Evelyn Warner, Madelyn Weseman, Jacqueline Woodward, Alice Zitzman, Vena Baker, Boneta Burton, Willie Goodrich, and Lorene Eggiman.

BASEBALL

The crack of the bat on the ball! The thrill of catching the ball a split second before the runner puts her foot on the bag! All the features of a big league baseball game are enjoyed by the girls in their games on the old "sand-lot." Even an occasional—oh, very good natured—cry of "Can the ump," is heard.

Last year a gym class tournament was held first. After several exciting games, this tourney was won by the team captained by Irma Rey.

Following this, the juniors won the class tournament. This tourney was even more exciting because of the intense rivalry between the classes, and the close scores of all the games. The junior team was led by Dollie Belle Ganther, who can always be counted on to knock in that needed run.

VOLLEYBALL

While the boys are chasing the pigskin, the girls are just as enthusiastically engaged in battling a small ball across a net. This ball is a volleyball and the game bears the same name. "The object of the game," as they have often been told by the onlookers, "is to get the ball over the net."

With several weeks of hard practice behind them, the feminine athletes began their large tournament. This consisted of a great many teams enough that each girl who came out to practice was placed on a team. The tourney was held on an elimination basis, each team, however, getting a second chance to play, even though once defeated. Dollie Belle Ganther's and Irma Rey's team emerged victors for the final fray, with the former winning in a close contest.

Following this, a smaller tournament was held, this time between classes. In a thrilling overtime game, the sophomores won this in the finals from the juniors, who though they battled gamely, were unable to keep up the pace set by the peppy sophs.

An all-star team was chosen by popular vote of the girls when the tournaments were over. These are the girls whom their own teammates and opponents thought worthy of the honor: Cecelia Romary, Dollie Belle Ganther, Maxine Brandtmiller, Margaret Benecke, Dorothea Siebert, Virginia Brittenham, Esther Masterson, and Mildred Linnemeyer.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM

The inter-class basketball tournament was played off very quickly and so turned out that the sophomores are to receive the silver cup, given up by the class of '30.

The last game, determining the victors, was played in the girls gym exhibition. The junior team were the opponents and put up a good stiff fight, the score at the end of the game proving it, 10-7, favoring the peppy sophomores.

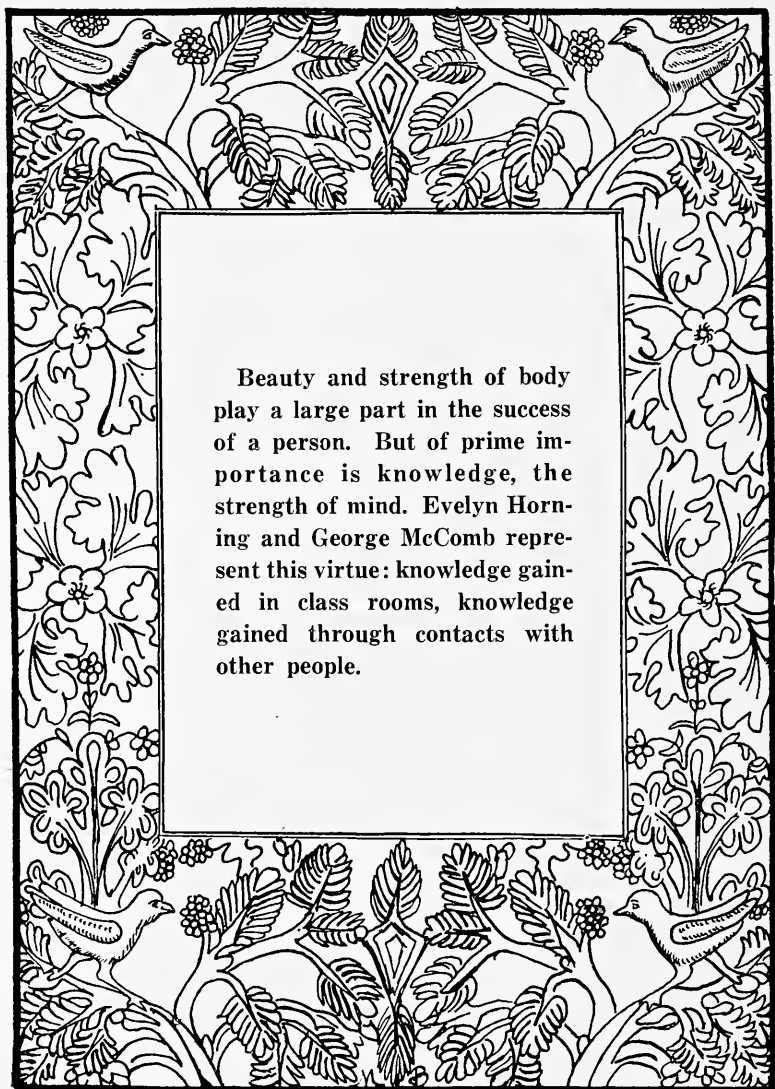

After one game had been played between each class, Mrs. Campbell, after much question and difficult judging, selected what is generally known as the all-star team, this year made up of the following: Maxine Bradtmiller, Dollie Belle Ganther, Betty VanArnam, Cecelia Romary, Virginia Brittenham, Mary Weaver; honorable mention: Florence Rhine, Flo Pio, Elizabeth Colling, Sarah Masterson.

The fighting junior team consisted of: Mildred Linnemeyer, Irma Rey, Dollie Belle Ganther, Margaret Benecke, Maxine Bradtmiller, Roberta Aldred, Glenna Brinsley, June James, Kathryn Denney.

The program started with the grand march, then a volleyball game between the fifth and eight period classes, fifth being victors. Then came the Scarecrow Dance by the eighth period class; a tumbling exhibition; intermediate clogs were given; zouave drill; Swingin', a clog dance; the grand finale; and lastly the basketball game.

The interclass tournament consisted of one game between each class. The freshmen won one game; the sophomores two, tied one; juniors won two and tied one; and the seniors were the unfortunates, defeated. All the games were interesting and hard fought.

Beauty and strength of body play a large part in the success of a person. But of prime importance is knowledge, the strength of mind. Evelyn Horning and George McComb represent this virtue: knowledge gained in class rooms, knowledge gained through contacts with other people.

THE YOUNGEST CLASS

The class of 1933, whose members at first seemed to have some difficulty in reconciling themselves to their new surroundings, has now become a class worthy of Central High School.

At the election of officers, Joe Tucker was chosen to pilot the class as president; Jack Schwartz was chosen vice-president. The position of secretary-treasurer was given to Kate Yaple, while Garnet Gerlock, Charles Porter, James Stephans, Jane Palmer, and Marion McKay comprised the social council. Later the freshman officers chose Miss Florence Lucasse and Mr. John Reising as class advisors.

The first class party was a decided success. This Freshman Frolic was held in the gymnasium, for frosh only, on December 10. The party had two outstanding features. One of these was a play, "Little Brother Sherlock," a series of comical coincidences presented by an all-star cast including Neva Williams, Joe Tucker, Garnet Gerlock, Jack Schwartz, Sara Bernstein, George Koegel, and Dick Larimer. The other feature was the fine array of refreshments which were prepared under the able guidance of Mr. Reising.

The freshmen have made a splendid showing on the school honor roll during the year and promise to become a senior class that will bring honor to C. H. S. by virtue of both activities and scholastic attainments.

First row—Joe Tucker, president; Jack Schwartz, vice-president.

Second row—Kate Yaple, secretary-treasurer; Marion McKay, social council.

Third row—Charles Porter, social council; Jane Palmer, social council.

Fourth row—Garnet Gerlock, social council; James Stephans, social council.

Fifth row—Miss F. Lucasse, advisor; Mr. J. Reising, advisor.

ON ROAD '32

First row—Billy Harvuot, president; Bob Yergens, vice-president.

Second row—Jack Weaver, secretary-treasurer; Marguerite Fraylick, social council.

Third row—Dorothy Baier, social council; Miss Blanche Nielson, faculty advisor.

Travelers on the highway of '32 started their high school career successfully and continued so during their sophomore term.

Billy Harvuot, a Booster member, became the sophomore president at the beginning of the school year. He was assisted by Robert Yergens another Booster member, who became vice-president. Jack Weaver, also a Booster member, received the office of secretary-treasurer. Marguerite Fraylick, Cecelia Romary, and Dorothy Baier made up the social committee.

Mrs. Sheets, the mother of Ralph Sheets represented the class in the Parent-Teacher Association. Mr. Robert Wyatt and Miss B. Neilson were the sponsors of the class this year.

Around Christmas time the class gave a party-dance, the "Yuletrot," which was attended by a great number of sophomores. They also received a dance from the Parent-Teacher Association for having the greatest number of parents at a special meeting. The dance was for sophomores only and was greatly enjoyed. In the second semester, the sophs gave a huge dance open to the other students. This was a novelty dance and a great number of students "turned out."

Thus, the sophs pass on, dependable, jolly, serious, but full of pep!

HAIL—THE JUNIORS!

The Junior class in general has proved to be one of the most important factors for the school's journey along the Road to Success. As upperclassmen they have continued the precedents laid down by those who formerly held the title of Juniors, and have added interesting and worthwhile innovations.

Engraved invitations were sent to the members of the class of '29 asking them to attend the Junior Prom given by the class of '30. This year's class has made plans for just as colorful and enjoyable an event as that staged last year. Seniors will again be guests of the juniors.

At the premier conclave of the junior class Howard Croninger was chosen president. In the capacity of vice-president Hoy McConnell was named. The office of secretary and treasurer was presented to Clara Mae Guy. The class was well represented by Dorothy Schmitt, Bob VanDeventer, June James, Jack Koegel, and Katheryn Bash as the social council.

The junior activities were inaugurated by the Hey-Hey party. After returning from a joy ride atop a hay wagon (that's where the hay comes in), the juniors made hey-hey to the tunes of an eight piece orchestra. The class sponsors, Miss Eva McKinnie and Mr. Willis Richardson, and the Parent-Teacher advisor, Mrs. Guy, prepared the refreshments for the hey-hey crowd.

During the second semester the class became interested in dramatics and successfully presented the comedy, "The Importance of Being Earnest," with the following cast of characters:

Sam Edlavitch, Gordon Davidson, William Douglass, Elmer Peek, Max Kaplan, Virginia Bohn, Dorothy Schmitt, Clara Mae Guy, and Agnes Wilkening. The play was coached by Mr. Richardson and Miss McKinnie.

First row—Howard Croninger, president; Hoy McConnell, vice-president.

Second row—Clara Mae Guy, secretary-treasurer; Kathryn Bash, social council.

Third row—Dorothy Schmitt, social council; June James, social council.

Fourth row—Jack Koegel, social council; Miss Eva McKinnie, faculty advisor.

KNIGHTS OF THE HONOR ROLL

Each year within the Castle, certain students are rewarded for meritorious work which they have performed during their four-year sojourn at Central. The award presented is merely honorary, that of being inscribed in the Court of Honor, and is based solely upon scholastic standing. However, it often happens that those who have attained the required record have also participated in many other affairs of the Court.

In the year of 1930, two girls, Evelyn Horning and Helen Dessauer, were placed at the top of the list by virtue of having made the highest averages, 95.59 and 95.05, respectively. Eighteen other names will likewise be recorded as being members of the exalted order of the Knights of the Honor Roll.

They, with their averages, are:

Norma Lewerenz, .....	94.87
Vera Lambrook, .....	94.75
Anna Linnemeyer, .....	93.78
Ralph Henschen, .....	93.75
Lawrence Roop, .....	93.40
George McComb, .....	93.27
Elizabeth Lindenberg, .....	93.18
Mary Elizabeth Crosbie, .....	92.42
Jean Forsythe, .....	92.15
Evelyn Hunt, .....	91.83
Ruth Grose, .....	91.48
Ruth Wilkening, .....	90.98
Marianne Cowan, .....	90.74
Julian Falk, .....	90.41
Charley Hause, .....	90.32
Betty VanArnam, .....	90.16
Marguerite Rohrbaugh, .....	90.09

FOUR YEAR GRIDIRON HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF '30

When the big game started in September, 1926, the class of '30 was 558 strong. As a whole, it was bashful and timid, and being like all freshmen, the members were rather green, but they showed the good old Blue and White spirit. During the second and third quarters the team lost in number, but gained in strength and wisdom. The last quarter proved that Coach Croninger's team is of no mean ability and its future success is assured.

FIRST QUARTER

The team struggled gamely and gained ground steadily but were unable to score except in the last few minutes of play, when they scored a place kick in the form of the Freshman Party. It proved to be one of the biggest social events of the year.

SECOND QUARTER

During this quarter, the sophomores managed to get under way early in the season. They gained twenty yards on their Hallowe'en Dance which was a big success. In the spring they showed real spirit and gobs of color at their Rainbow Dance.

THIRD QUARTER

Much was expected of the team this quarter for they were now upper classmen. They lived up to the expectation too, for the whole quarter was filled with interesting events and the team was enthusiastic from beginning to end. The quarter started with an unusual pass, the Radio Frolic, by which they gained 25 yards. After coming out of a huddle, the team tried a new play which was successful and they scored a touchdown. The comedy "Kempy" was the first junior play to be given at Central. The most spectacular play of the quarter was a 45 yard run for a touchdown in the last few minutes of play. Thus the juniors ended the quarter with their most brilliant social event of the season, the Junior Prom, at which the seniors were their guests.

FOURTH QUARTER

This quarter was one of steady gain for the class of '30, and it won the game for them. They started out with a fine place kick when they elected the following officers: President, Jack Rittenhouse; Vice-President, Mary Weaver; Secretary, Marguerite Rohrbough; Social Council, Betty Van-Arnham, Larry Levy, Virginia Blosser, George McComb, and Bob Spice.

The senior play, "39 East," which was given in the latter part of November, was a splendid example of co-operation not only among the members of the cast, but right in the team, for it was well supported by the class. In December the class gave the Siwash, a combination dance and party. They continued as a group to work hard and added steadily to their yardage in the Senior-Caldron Vodvil and several matinee dances which were given during the second semester.

The final touchdown was made at the commencement dance. At the commencement exercises the four quarter game ended and each player received a diploma as an award for having won the game.

JUNIORS PRESENT PLAY

One Friday evening, April 26, to be exact, many serfs, peasants, townspeople, and even a few noblemen gathered at the grey stone castle for an evening's entertainment. On this particular night Mr. Richardson, one of the tutors at the castle, had made arrangements to present a play, "Kempy" by name, for the general public.

Those taking part in the stupendous production were Ruth Wilkening, Betty Van Arnam, Virginia Blosser, Helen Dessauer, Joe Williams, Paul Fruechtenicht, Hoy McConnell and Lawrence Levy. The action took place in the Bence home, and centered around "Ma" and "Pa" Bence, their three daughters and their respective "beaus."

Those who deserve credit for helping to make the play a success were Julian and David Falk, John Bastian, Ralph Ehrman, and Rodger Salzer, stage managers; Norman Sams and Jean Forsythe who gave musical selections between acts, and Mr. Richardson, the very excellent coach, who was assisted by Miss Voorhees.

Rosa .....	Ruth Bittler	Mrs. Smith .....	Betty Macdonald
Count Gionelli .....	Loren Denny	Miss Sadie Clarence .....	Betty VanArnam
Perkins .....	Don Wilson	Miss Myrtle Clarence .....	Mary Weaver
Timothy O'Brien .....	Vernon Prange	Penelope Penn .....	Marianne Cowan
Miss McMasters .....	Helen Dessauer	Jack Gibbs .....	Bill Lipkey
Mme. DeMailly .....	Virginia Blosser	The Policeman .....	Jack Rittenhouse

"39 East" is an old New York home that has now been turned into a boarding house by its owner, Mme. DeMailly. It holds within its walls quite a varied collection of boarders ranging from a country parson's daughter, who has come to New York in hopes of earning enough money to send her two brothers to college and cure her mother, who is very ill, to a young American, Jack Gibbs, who believes in being just himself. There are also the usual old maid gossips, who are found in all boarding houses, and a varied assortment of other mixtures.

The action of the play opens in Mme. DeMailly's dining room. Here we get our first chance to see all the boarders. First, the Count appears for his breakfast. He is continually thinking of his Italy which he left behind to make his way in America. Then comes a typical, boisterous young westerner, Timothy O'Brien, who advises the Count to forget his Italy. Miss McMasters is the next one whom we meet. She keeps the audience laughing at her precise statements and stern ways. Mme. DeMailly, the owner of the house, is the next to come to the table. She is stern, hates to think she is running a common boarding house, yet she wants all her boarders to pay their bills on time.

Dr. Hubbard has his troubles with Mrs. Smith, another of the gossips, who is continually trying to win him for her own. The two Clarence twins, Sadie and Myrtle, add a touch of humor by their lack of intelligence. Last but not least are Penelope Penn and Jack Gibbs, who add the zest of love to the production. After all the other boarders have left the dining room, Mr. Gibbs, with much persuasion, makes a date with Miss Penn for that afternoon in Central Park.

Then our scene is in the park. This act adds a great deal of color to the play. The clever lighting effect and striking scenery make a most pleasing setting for this love scene. The only things which spoil a perfect love scene are a policeman and Mrs. Smith.

The final act carries one back to the boarding house on that same evening. It is the drawing room of "39 East" where Mme. DeMailly has gathered her boarders for her usual Saturday evening entertainment. A duet played by the Twins and the singing of Mr. O'Brien add much enjoyment to the act.

Marianne Cowan, as Miss Penn, took a place in everyone's heart by her acting. She depicted her part with great skill and beauty. In the male lead, Bill Lipkey, played on a par with her. His comic lines never missed the ear of the audience, and he held their attention in his serious lines. In the second act, which is almost entirely taken up by Miss Penn and Mr. Gibbs, the audience gets ample chance to note the unusual talents of the two players.

For character acting Helen Lessauer heads the cast, and Virginia Blosser was close second. Both of these players seem to have had their characters well worked up and held their supremacy throughout the play. Betty Macdonald, as Mrs. Smith, played her part very creditably.

As Timothy O'Brien, Vernon Prange, supplied the comedy part of the play. The Count and Dr. Hubbard were both enacted admirably by Loren Denney and James Throp. Jack Rittenhouse, although only the policeman, characterized his part in fine style.

The play presented on November 22, and 23 was directed by Miss Marjorie Suter. Much credit should be given her for its wonderful success, for the senior class cleared $358.15.

FRED H. CRONINGER

CENTRAL'S FACULTY IN A MEDIEVAL COURT

As I walked along the Road to Success I beheld in the distance a beautiful grey stone castle. Coming nearer, I saw the words "Central High School" engraved across the entrance. The Lord of the Castle, Fred H. Croninger, was a very hospitable gentleman and so before long we were the best of friends. My admiration for him grew as I realized how well ordered everything was in his castle. He told me that it was the purpose of everyone in there to pass his knowledge on to the others.

The largest number of his subjects were engaged in teaching the correct usage of the English language. This energetic group was headed by Mrs. Vera Lane, who was assisted by Ruth Brown, R. K. Butler, Hazel Hawkins, Marion Ingham, Rosza Tonkel, Katherine V. Welch, Geneva Burwell, Albert Coil, and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider.

Many strangers were entertained at the castle, so my new friends found it profitable to learn foreign languages. The chief instructor was Mary Harrah, who taught Latin, together with Florence Lucasse, Eva McKinnie and Leah Austin. Mildred Brigham and L. A. Stroebel taught French and German respectively.

The study of history is not only interesting but it is of great value because many lessons can be gained from the past that may be used to advantage. Rex Potterf was the leader of the group who talked on this interesting subject to the rest of the courtiers. The list of his helpers was Mary Catherine Smeltzly, Willis Richardson, Vera Pence, Bernice Priest, and Robert Wyatt.

My visit to the rooms where the mysteries of science were pursued through study and experiment was very interesting. Charles D. Dils was in charge of chemistry; Harry L. Veatch, physics; Meredith C. Aldred, botany; Howard H. Michaud, biology; Gertrude Neilson, physical geography.

One department that was very useful and helpful to all those who partook of its training was the vocational department. Here the crafts were taught with John H. Hines as head craftsman. The other craftsmen and their specialties were: Roland Mottar and Irven Tonkel, co-operative; W. W. White, printing; L. G. Hemphill, auto mechanics; Gilbert M. Wilson, electricity; Earl Springer, auto and electricity.

Mary Elizabeth Gardner, with a group of enthusiastic helpers, was working hard on problems of a mathematical nature that arose in the castle. Algebra, geometry, trigonometry and college algebra were used by Marie Christman, John Reising, Ralph Virts, and Charles Turpin in solving these problems.

The meals that were served during my visit were so very delightful and appetizing that I could not resist asking who prepared them. The castle hostess, who bore the name Dean Anna B. Lewis, told me about the home economics department in which all the girls of the castle could learn to prepare these meals, and also to fashion for themselves beautiful garments. The head cook and dressmakers were Gertrude Keep, Amy Barnes, Maple Byers and Wilma Strauch.

Of course it was necessary that some one in this large home be able to take care of the money and records. This was done very efficiently by the keepers of the archives, or what we would call the commercial department. Harry B. Immel, L. A. Johnson, John Jones, and Esther Thomas took charge of this work.

G. H. Russell was at the head of the manuel training department and Charles Mays, Basil Shackelford, Roy Spaulding, and Bertram Welbaum helped him to teach the boys in the castle how to make tables, chairs, cabinets, stands, and many other useful pieces of furniture.

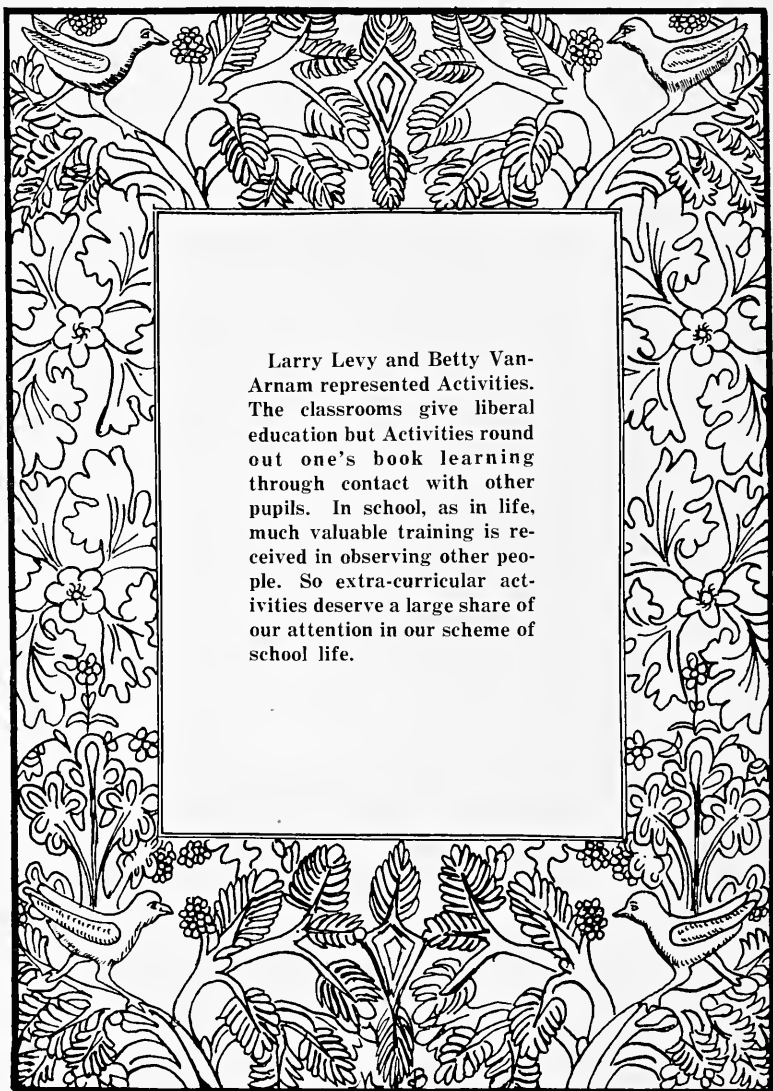

Beauty was added to the castle through the skilled fingers of a group of artists. This work was created under the direction of the head artists, Mary Zent and Mrs. Lois Mosher.

My friends were not only interested in study, but also took delight in athletics. Mrs. Ingrid Campbell was coach for the girls and Murray Mendenhall for the boys. Their teams brought home many trophies which were hung in the castle hall.

No better place for study could be found than in the quiet of the castle's library. Erdean McCloud, Hester Perry, and Ethel Shroyer were always on hand to help find any needed information.

Several plays of a very interesting nature were given under the direction of Marjorie Suter. Music was furnished by the castle orchestra and band, with Gaston Baihle as director.

—Mildred Miner

Larry Levy and Betty Van-Arnham represented Activities. The classrooms give liberal education but Activities round out one's book learning through contact with other pupils. In school, as in life, much valuable training is received in observing other people. So extra-curricular activities deserve a large share of our attention in our scheme of school life.

SOCIAL CLUBS

CENTRAL TRIANGLE CLUB

Central Triangle Club has come into prominence as a successful club for High School freshman and sophomore girls. The club has the regular Girl Reserve motto.

The meetings have been different but decidedly interesting this year. At the beginning of the term, a "get-acquainted" party was given for the freshmen. A Christmas party and an "Auto Show" were also held. The club also joined with the Friendship club and held a reception for Miss Montgomery, the new Girl Reserve advisor, at which time she and Miss Lewis gave interesting talks on Girl Reserve work.

Central's Triangle Club helped in a joint rummage sale of all the high schools. They sold salt water taffy and continued to sell the Central stationery at twenty-five cents a box. The club made an interesting project for the Needle-Work Guild. The girls made children's dresses at home and turned them into the Guild as their share for the year.

At different meetings chosen speakers gave interesting views on topics that the girls wished discussed. On Thanksgiving an elocutionist expressed her idea of the Thanksgiving spirit.

Miss Ruth Brown and Miss Leah Austin were the club's sponsors during the first semester. In the second, Miss Austin resigned and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider took over her work. Officers for the first semester were: president, Marguerite Fraylick; vice-president, Dorothea Stodgill; secretary, Rose Mary Crowe; treasurer, Helen Hassan. The second semester staff included: president, Dorothea Stodgill; vice-president, Alice Harding; secretary, Dora Beard; and treasurer, Martha Fox.

First row—Marguerite Fraylick, Dorothea Stodgill, Rosemary Crowe, Helen Hassan.
Second row—Miss R. Brown, Ruth Ashton, Millie DeVilliers, Dora Beard.
Third row—Charlotte Blosser, Elizabeth Colling, Alice Harding, Sara Masterson.
Fourth row—Ernestine Stumpf, Flo Pio, Dorothy Hassan, Sara Bernstein.
Fifth row—Eleanor Kabisch, Eileen Keller, Ruth Simmons, Margaret Allard.

THE BOOSTER CLUB

The silent third person in Central activities is the Booster Club. Whenever anything is wanted done in Central there is one club that is always ready to tackle the job, and they are led in the venture by their faculty advisor, Miss Vera Pence, who has most ably directed them for the past two years.

At the start of school the advisory committee, Mary Ellen Heit, Max Kaplan, Helene Smith, and Joe Williams, met and picked the club for the coming year from the piles of applications. Their pick proved to be of the best of workers.

With the coming of football season their work started. They decorated the stadium, and held for all the games. The blue and white was much in evidence when the game was called. This was not all that they did during the grid season for they were always on the scene of battle with refreshments. They advertised the games, too, and offered their bit of yelling.

Then came the net season and they again furnished the colors at the gyms and the candy, ice cream, pop, etc. They offered their services as helpers to make the sectional and regional tournaments the biggest ones ever held in the city.

Not satisfied with this they were on hand to boost the Central track and field meets, and they sure did their bit to make them big.

Athletics were not the only thing they boosted for they helped the debating teams have a successful season. They made and financed a new annual day at Central. It was "Bow Day" when everyone bought bows and wore them. The proceeds of the day were given to the speech department. They advertised other activities in school. They assisted the music department among others.

In the pep sessions they had many stunts. The annual special for the year was gotten together by the club. The special was made up of two cars and was sent to Auburn. At the state championship football game between Central and Horace Mann of Gary, they published a four page folder with the names and other information of interest.

The chairman for the year was chosen at the beginning of the first semester; the member chosen for the position was Joe Williams.

The State tourney special was chartered and decorated in charge of the club, who handled it in good shape.

STUDENT PLAYERS

Student Player's Club means an organization that is composed of students who have earned their membership by hard work. Under a new point system, membership is obtained by ten points and those who were members remained in the club only by a score of ten points or more. Points are earned by participation in plays, stage work, committee activity at meetings, and many minor duties. Those who earn twenty five points in one year are awarded a "D" guard fastened to the regular Student Player pin. It is a reward of high honor for it is difficult to earn twenty-five points.

Due to Miss Suter having charge of dramatics in all three public high schools this year, the Senior Play, "39 East," was given November 22 and 23. A Christmas Pageant was the December feature. The cast for these were taken mostly from the drama class.

During mid-semester, the initiation of all three high schools' Student Player's Club was held in the Central auditorium and a dance in the gymnasium afterward. Spring initiations have been held at the Snook cottage at Wawasee.

First row: David Falk, Virginia Blosser, Donald Wilson, Helen Dessauer, Miss Marjorie Suter.

Second row: George McComb, Marguerite Rohrbach, Jack Rittenhouse, Ruth Bittler, Bill Lipkey.

Third row: Larry Levy, Betty VanArnam, Ruth Wilkening, Walter Erhman, Marianne Cowan.

Fourth row: Joe Williams, Vera Lambrook, John Bastian, Margaret Moellering, Rose Maloley.

Fifth row: Clara Mae Guy, Julian Falk, Mary Weaver, Samuel Slavitch, Helene Smith.

Sixth row: Fritz Schafer, Sylvia Gladstone, Mary Ellen Heit, Elizabeth Porter, Catherine Porter.

Seventh row: Marjorie McKeeman, Dick Erb, Anna Doran, Carlyle Pio, Hoy McConnell.

Eight row: Orthel Chausse, Rachel Ochstein, Sara Masarsky, Agnes Wilkening, Alice Harr, Edward Erb.

MATH CLUB

December 4, 1929, marked the sixteenth anniversary of the founding of our Mathematics Club, better known as Math Club, one of the oldest and most important organizations in Central. On December 4, 1913, Mr. D. W. Werremeyer, a mathematics teacher, founded the club with the assistance of the class of 1914.

Math Club has this year also upheld the ideals and standards established so long ago by those former students and teacher. The meetings, held once a month on Friday, were entertaining. Featured among the programs were addresses given by Mr. Wyatt, Miss Nielson, and a demonstration on "Radio Picture Transmission" by Mr. Springer. In every meeting a student also gave a talk.

For the first semester Elmer Zweig, Nancy Porter, Sara Masursky, and Ralph Henschen capably served in the capacity of president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively. The duties for the second semester were faithfully executed by Ralph Henschen, Agnes Wilkening, Vera Lambrook, and Orthel Chausse.

First row: Elmer Zweig, Nancy Porter, Sara Masursky, Ralph Henschen, Jack Rittenhouse, Elizabeth Porter.

Second row: Dick Erb, Hoy McConnell, Marjorie McKeeman, Gerald Briggs, Alice Harr, Orthel Chausse.

Third row: Lawrence Roop, Sarah Ochstien, Larry Levy, Rachel Ochstien, Howard Croninger, Ruth Wilkening.

Sixth row: Betty Yarnelle, Max Kaplan, Lucy Porter, John Bastian, Jean Ludwig, Sam Edlavitch.
Seventh row: Dave Falk, Vera Lambrook, James Newhouse, Agnes Wilkening, Bill Wyrick, Marguerite Rohrbaugh.

Eighth row: Mary Alice Stewart, Catherine Porter, Esther Eckart, Ed. Erb, Mary Weaver, Vivian Young, Pete Vincenski.

Ninth row: George McComb, Miss Gardner, Mr. Reising, Mr. Virts, Miss Christman, Mr. Turpin, Mr. Croninger.

HONOR STUDENTS

The Honor Society was organized in 1928 to encourage better scholarship. The organizers, Miss Mary Harrah, Miss Anna B. Lewis, and Mr. R. K. Butler, for a long time lamented the fact that so much stress was placed on extra-curricular activities and that emphasis on scholarship was receding. In great measure, it has revived interest in better scholastic standing. The requirements for admission to the Honor Society are that a person have at least 3 A's and no grade lower than a B.

The outstanding event of the year was the banquet given at the Catholic Community Center on November 6th, 1929. There were about sixty guests present. The principal speaker was Mrs. W. P. Yarnelle. Her talk was "Wherein Lies Our Honor." She emphasized the need of knowing oneself. Other speakers were Mr. Butler, "Anything and Everything," and Ruth Burhop, past president, "Knowledge Gained Outside of Books."

The officers of the club for the first semester were: president, Norma Lewerenz; vice-president, Nancy Porter; secretary, treasurer, Sara Ochstein.

Those who served the second term included: president, George McComb; vice-president, Robert Geake; and secretary-treasurer, Marion McKay.

Top row, left to right: N. Lewerenz, N. Porter, S. Ochstein, Miss Harrah, Mr. Butler.
 Second row: E. Hornung, A. Linnemeyer, L. Roop, M. E. Grosbie, H. Dessauer.

 Eight row: B. Yarnelle, E. Porter, R. Geake, K. Yaple, A. Zitzman.

SOROSIS

The Sorosis Literary Society was founded in 1914 with the important purpose of promoting the reading and appreciation of good literature. This principle has been carried out in various ways since that time. Among several speakers who have appeared before the society were Rabbi Markowitz, who discussed the Literature of the Bible, and the Rev. Mr. Rocca, who read a group of poems by American authors at the Christmas meeting held at the home of the society advisor.

The girls are encouraged to produce their own literary efforts for program duty although the work of experienced authors is also read, including short stories, poems and essays. The Sorosis Scrap Book, which was started several years ago, is given in turn to each girl who contributes some poem she has especially enjoyed. Several times a year the selections from this book are read in the meetings.

All girls who are 10A or above with an average no lower than B are eligible to attend the meetings which are held in the Club Rooms on every second Thursday. In other years the club work has been kept to one particular class of literature, but this year the work has been more general.

Sorosis tries to do something for the school and in the season 1929-30 made a gift to the clubs, silver spoons and an electric stove.

Officers the first semester were: Mary Elizabeth Crosbie, president; Jean Forsythe, vice-president; Meta Schulz, secretary; Norma Lewerenz, treasurer. The second semester the chief position was held by Norma Lewerenz with the following staff: Evelyn Horning, vice-president; Rachel Ochstein, secretary; and Mary Jean Marsh, treasurer.

First row: M. E. Crosbie, J. Forsythe, Miss K. Welch.
Second row: M. Schulz, N. Lewerenz, E. Horning.

Fourth row: S. Masursky, R. Ochstein, E. Hunt.
Fifth row: L. Masursky, J. James, M. E. Heit, D. Hileman.

FRIENDSHIP

During the past year, Friendship Club has been outstanding in its service work.

The theme for the first semester was "The Treasure Hunt." As there was a new Girl Reserve Y. W. C. A. secretary, Miss Montgomery, the Friendship Club united with Central Triangle in giving a reception for her. Those who were initiated into the club during the semester were Elsie Rodenbeck, Mildred Linnemeyer, Helene Smith, Louise Beyerlein and Kathryn Bash. The traditional Thanksgiving basket was given to a needy family. One of the biggest acts of service was the trip to the County Infirmary where a program, candy and scrap books were presented to the old people. The annual Christmas party was a big success.

Some other things accomplished during the first semester were the hemming of towels for the Needlework Guild and the selling of salt water taffy. The officers for the 1st period were Mildred Miner, president; Margaret Moellering, vice-president; Catherine Porter, secretary; and Florence Studabaker, treasurer.

For the second semester, the theme chosen was "Trees." Each program was appropriately carried out for the theme. The girls made valentines which were distributed at the Feeble Minded Home, hemmed handkerchiefs which went to a Louisville colored school and made flowers at Easter time. There were several discussions held on current school problems. After one such discussion, a pot-luck supper was enjoyed. The meeting called "Trees and Saplings" was a Mother-Daughter Tea. The year was ended with a picnic.

The advisors of the club were Miss Mary Catherine Smeltzly and Miss Geneva Burwell.

The officers for the latter half were: Catherine Porter, president; Anna Doran, vice president; Dorothy Schmitt, secretary; and Kathryn Bash, treasurer.

Throughout the year at various times stationery was sold in the halls.

Top row: M. Miner, M. Moellering, C. M. Guy, M. E. Hirt.
 Second row: C. Porter, F. Studabaker, D. Schmitt, M. Budd.
 Third row: Miss M. C. Smeltzly, E. Eckart, H. Smith, A. Wilkening.

C. G. A. A.

The Central Girls' Athletic Association, the initial athletic club for girls in the school, is now one of two. Membership in the club is secured by earning at least one hundred points. However, anyone acquiring from 25 to 100 points is entitled to an associate membership.

With four years of organization the C. G. A. A. has many letter girls for members, who started a novel idea of forming the Letter Girls' Club. The plan was carried out and the second athletic club gave a number of parties to the girls interested in athletics.

The activities carried out this year have been numerous and as interesting as previously. The annual banquet held at the end of the basketball season was also very novel and interesting.

The new distinguished and exclusive C. G. A. A. caps brought much excitement, enthusiasm, and interest to the club.

Girls' basketball this year has been one big success—lots of girls out and lots of pep! After hard practise and work, the teams were chosen with captains for each, and finally Mrs. Campbell posted the tournament schedule. After the first big tournament it is customary that class teams be chosen and another schedule posted, each class playing the other three times. At the close of the season an all-star team is generally chosen, consisting of girls of best attendance, spirit, and quality of play.

With the large number of girls out this season, good material was acquired, both old and new, also a wide interest in the girls most popular sports.

Second row: Dorothea Siebert, Martha Reppert, Virginia Brittenham, Madeline Beck, Maxine Brautmler.

Third row: June James, Flo Pio, Marjorie Brighton, Florence Rhine, Roberta Aldred.

Fourth row: Kathleen Robinson, Elizabeth Collins, Madelyn Weserman, Helen Lee, Kate Yaple.

Fifth row: Dorothy Barbour, Dorothea Myers, Esther Masterson, Alise Harding, Dorothy Sutton.

HOME ECONOMICS

The Home Economics Club is another one of Central's loyal organizations. Its purpose is to promote friendship and interest among girls who are taking or who have taken a course in the Domestic Science Department.

Meetings are held the first Monday in each month and interesting and instructive programs are always presented. The programs this year have been made up of talks, illustrated lectures, project work and several have been of a social nature, as the Christmas Party and the outdoor picnic.

The success of the H.E.C. has been due largely to the combined efforts of the peppy set of officers and the energetic and enthusiastic group of advisors, which includes Miss Barnes, Miss Byers, and Miss Strauch.

The club has also done service work both in school and out. It has cooked and served several banquets, among which were the banquet for the football team and the Business and Professional Women's banquet at North Side. The dishes for the club rooms were donated by the club, and at Christmas time service work was also done.

Last year the club affiliated itself with the State Home Economics Club. Anna Linnemeyer represented the club at the convention held at Indianapolis in October, and reported many new and interesting ideas.

Officers for the first semester were: Anna Linnemeyer, president, Alice Harding, vice-president, Helen Hassan, secretary; and Anita Schon, treasurer. Second semester: Mildred Linnemeyer, president; Delores Stapleton, secretary; and Anita Schon, treasurer.

 Second row: Helen Hassan, Evelyn Hunt.
 Third row: Elsie Rodenbeck, Delores Stapleton, Ida Girod.
 Fourth row: Norma Lewerenz, Dorothy Houser, Elizabeth Lindenberg.
 Fifth row: Dorothy Stapleton, Anita Schon, Loretta Kinney.
 Sixth row: Mabel Lusk, Mildred Linnemeyer, Florence Studabaker.
 Seventh row: Mona Peters, Esther Eckart, Ada Welker.
 Advisors of club: Miss Amy Barnes, Miss Wilma Strauch, Miss Maple Byers.

HI-Y CLUB

Hi-Y, this year, has been rather inactive due to a variety of reasons. First of these is that nothing had been done at school to arouse enthusiasm among the younger boys. Another was laxity of the enforcement of the points of the Constitution.

To combat the lethargy, a series of men from the city talked to the boys, Friday mornings, and the Constitution was rewritten. The new Constitution defined more specifically the duties of the officers and organized several new offices with the function of furthering Hi-Y activities at school. These activities aroused interest in the organization and a correspondingly increased attendance was noticed.

The Hi-Y raised money for its activities by selling candy. Over five dollars of profit were realized through this means. The officers of the club were during the first and second semesters respectively: president, Lawrence Roop, Sam Elliott; vice-president, George McComb, Kenneth Murphy; secretary, Laurence Coleman, Bill Lipkey; treasurer, John Bastian, Gordon Davidson. Mr. Fred H. Croninger is faculty advisor.

Top row: Lawrence Roop, Mr. F. H. Croninger.
Second row: George McComb, Bill Lipkey.
Third row: John Bastian, Howard Croninger.
Fourth row: Jack Koegel, Sam Elliott.

CO-OPERATIVE INDUSTRIAL CLUB

The club was organized in December, 1928, by Central "Co-ops," for the purpose of better fellowship and unity, and the broadening of social, educational and industrial contacts of co-operative students.

The club roll numbers seventy very "live" members, including twenty-five honorary and charter members—graduates and faculty—and forty-five current members, of whom thirty-four are juniors and eleven are seniors. All "Co-ops" are eligible to membership upon proof of satisfactory scholarship and active support of the club.

Activities of the club include: business sessions, inspection trips to industrial centers, discussion and research on manufacturing policies, processes and methods, individual programs for business and success, and social functions such as picnics and dances. Afternoons of the summer sessions offer opportunity for club athletics and lively recreation. An annual banquet is held in honor of the graduates. Business meetings are held monthly, on the first Thursday evening.

The club pin, of symbolic industrial design, in color of blue and silver, was adopted in October, 1929. Chenille emblems for sweaters, embodying the pin design, have also been secured for members this year.

THE BRUSH AND PENCIL CLUB

Although it lost its regular advisors, Miss Anna M. Newman and Miss Mary Louise Voorhees, through illness, the Brush and Pencil Club has had a very successful year under the guidance of Miss Mary Zent, Assistant Supervisor of Art of the city, and Mrs. Lois Mosher.

The big event of the year in the history of the Art Club was the Valentine Tea Dance held in the Central gym on February 19. This dance was planned primarily as a welcome to the incoming freshmen, and the students of the three high schools, North Side, South Side, and Central were invited. The gym was appropriately decorated in red and white streamers and fancy posters carrying out the Valentine motif. At the intermission large red cinnamon hearts on paper doilies were served to the guests who numbered about two hundred.

Among the many interesting speakers who talked to the club was Father Chapman, who spoke on European Art and the meaning of Art in the Catholic Church.

Officers for the first semester were Ruth Wilkening, president; Ruth Grose, vice-president; and Marie Colling, secretary-treasurer.

Those elected for the second part of the term were: George Alford, president; Marie Colling, vice-president; and Marcella Budd, secretary-treasurer.

Second row: Marcella Budd, Grace Leslie.

Third row: Agnes Wilkening, Raymond Adams.

Fourth row: Ruth Wilkening, Carmela Tomas.

Fifth row: Mildred Eggiman, Virginia Blosser.

Sixth row: Elizabeth Glock, Wilma McMaken.

Seventh row: George Alford, Sylvia Gladstone, Elizabeth Colling.

VOICES OF BEAUTY

Beginning the year as a separate organization, the A Capella choir during the second semester turned all their attention to the operetta. The 14 girls who composed the group were chosen at the beginning of the year because they possessed especially pleasing voices.

Leading feminine roles in the operetta, "The Belle of Bagdad," which was presented in the auditorium May 2 and 3, were taken by the following members of the A Capella choir: Jean Forsythe, Meta Schulz, Louise Wheeler, Vivian Young and Dorothea Stogdill. The boys who appeared in the operetta were James Throp, Loren Denny, Bernard Klein, Robert Thompson, Hoy McConnell, and Bill Lipkey. Mr. Gaston Baihle was director.

Jean Forsythe and James Throp, who held the leading roles in the operetta, did splendid work. The plot and the songs were extremely clever and were enjoyed by the audiences. The following business staff made the operetta a financially successful stage production: John Bastian, stage manager; Max Kernan, assistant stage manager; Don Wilson and Carlyle Pio, tickets; Loren Denny, reservations; Dorothy Hassan, Helen Hassan, publicity; Marianne Cowan, Mildred Miner, costumes.

Sixth row: M. Kernan, D. Wilson, J. Bastian.

CENTRAL SINGERS

Without music the journey along the Road to Success would grow tiresome and difficult. Central's journey has been made pleasant this year by the joint girls and boys glee club, under the direction of Mr. Gaston Bailhe.

At Christmas time the musicians presented a cantata at the school which was greatly enjoyed by all who heard it. The selection of music for this program was unusually beautiful. This same group of songs was sung at the Lions' Club Christmas party for the blind, and at the Grace Reform Church. The students also presented a program at the opening of the First National Bank.

Most of the cast for the operetta, "The Belle of Bagdad," and the chorus have been chosen from the Glee Club. On the whole, this club of singers has enjoyed a very successful year.

Top row: H. Tucker, D. Wilson, E. Goshorn, S. Ackerman, H. Leitz, W. Mitchell, R. Johnson.

Second row: F. Reichelderfer, B. Pio, R. Thompson, C. Reichelderfer.

Sitting: W. Williamson, E. Superfine, E. Robinson, G. Baihle, instructor; N. Sams, director; H. Grindell, M. Kernen, J. Bastian.

Kneeling: C. Andrews.

BAND

The music makers of '29-'30 acted as pep instillers at all the football and basketball games played by Central. The advent of a new music teacher and director, Mr. Gaston Baihle, was largely responsible for the increased interest and enthusiasm in this organization.

In addition to playing at all the home games the band journeyed to Auburn in the special, making lots of noise on the interurban and lots of music at the game. They also played at the tournament and their music was broadcast by W.O.W.O. They usually occupied the stage at the pep sessions held in the auditorium, and led the students in some of the city parades.

Perhaps they seemed to strut a little more this year. If they did, it was the fault of the new decorations on their uniforms, the gold braid adding life to the dark blue suits. The Booster Club and sewing departments were the benefactors in this case.

Norman Sams, '30, served as student director during the year and greatly helped Mr. Baihle in improving the band. Two practices have been held each week, and, during the warmer months, the members practiced marching.

The band members who are graduating are: Norman Sams, John Bastian, Wayne Mitchell, Carlyle Pio, Robert Thompson, Estel Goshorn, and Donald Wilson. The other members of Central's music group are: George Skelton, Bernard Klein, Ernest Workman, Robert Beibrick, Walter Williamson, Simon Ackerman, William Alexander, Norman Kimmel, Richard Johnson, Max Kernen, Harold Tucker, Carl Andrews, Faythe Reichelderfer, Charles Reichelderfer, Earl Superfine, Helen Grindell, Elizabeth Robertson, and Herman Leitz.

MUSICIANS OF THE COURT

A very successful season has been the record of the orchestra this year under the capable direction of Mr. Gaston Baihle. Mr. Baihle is a man of note in the musical circles of Fort Wayne, and is an accomplished violinist.

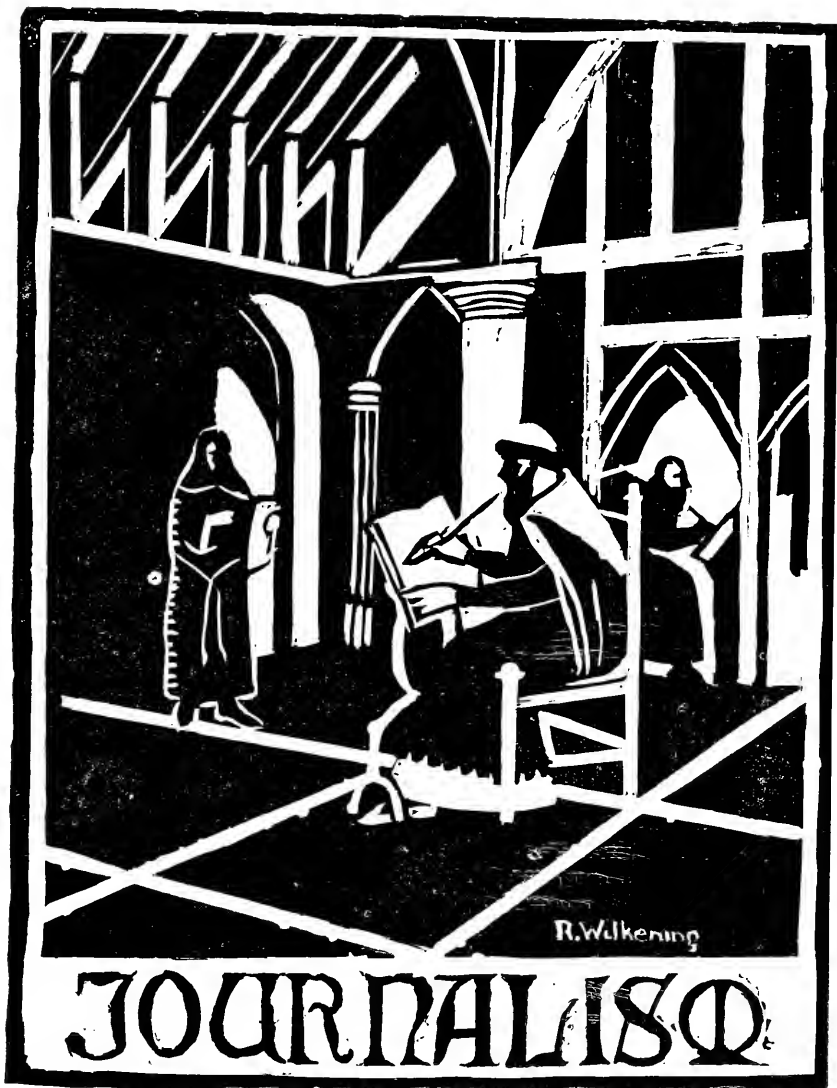

The orchestra was honored by having one of its members, Maurice Lahmeyer, chosen to go to Atlantic City to play in the National High School Orchestra. Maurice is a senior and has played in the school orchestra all during his four years in Central. As he was the only representative from any of the high schools in the city, his selection brought honor to school and city, as well as to him personally.

This year's orchestra, numbering 30, is a well balanced group. The members played for the science section of the Northeastern Indiana Teachers' Association, and will appear at the annual commencement exercises.

Members of the orchestra who do not appear in the picture above are: Jean Forsythe, Norman Sams, Oliver Boldt, and Eugene Kabisch.

These snapshots are mainly about Central and its fair inhabitants. Unusual views of the school, obtained from the air, are shown in the above group.

THE SCHOOL MAGAZINES

Max Kaplan
Mary Hosey
Florence Lucasse

Our traveler became tired; yet, after stopping and resting, his body was still fatigued, and his mind weary. The inn keepers looked at each other in amazement when he asked for something other than food and drink. People looked upon him strangely, when he stopped on the highway asking relief from his mental and physical strain; as before, nourishment and sleep were insufficient.

In despair he made his way to the first building other than a lodging and eating house—Central High School. In the hope of ridding himself of the heavy burden, he bought a booklet which was being sold in the hall for five cents. It was our Fragmenta Latina, published by the pupils of the Latin department. It was a Roman paper written in modern style, and in it were given an idea of the life, customs and characteristics of the Roman people. It bore the names of Mary Hosey and Max Kaplan, editors, and Miss Florence Lucasse, faculty advisor.

Next he bought a lovely booklet bound in red, which proved to be the Central Light, a literary work in which the best essays, poems, and short stories of each class were displayed. Lovely wood block illustrations delighted him. Upon inquiry he discovered that the patroness of this publication was Mrs. Vera Lane.

Now he sat in thorough contentment, for he knew that the culture and education that came from reading and composing, were as necessary to life as food and sleep.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Quill and Scroll, a national honorary journalistic society, is a cherished desire on the "Road to Success." The qualifications which must be overcome are that the student be in the upper third of the class scholastic standing, that he be recommended by the publications advisor as outstanding in journalism, and that he be approved by the national secretary.

George McComb, editor of the Caldron, and Mary Elizabeth Crosbie, associate editor, have been good managers of the yearbook. Both of them have also had major positions on the Spotlight staff.

Larry Levy and Betty Van Arnam have been the Spotlight editors this year. Larry was student advisor last semester and is also snapshot editor of the Caldron. Betty is one of the senior editors of the annual.

A successful Caldron drive was conducted by Marguerite Rohrbaugh, campaign manager of the yearbook. Marguerite has been advertising manager and managing editor of the school paper.

Lawrence Roop is sports editor of both the Spotlight and Caldron. He was editor of The Tournament News. Miss Austin, advisor of the Spotlight and Caldron, is honorary member of the society.

Top to bottom: George McComb, Mary Elizabeth Crosbie, Larry Levy, Marguerite Rohrbaugh, Lawrence Roop, Betty Van Arnam.

First row: George McComb, Mary Elizabeth Crosbie, Grace Leslie, John Bastian.
Second row: Lawrence Roop, Leota Wright, Betty Van Arnam, Joe Williams.

BOOK MAKERS

To the outsider, the journalistic field seems to offer just a large open space in which to cut capers, high, wide, and handsome, with no thought of work. Few people realize what intensive labor is necessary to produce a newspaper or annual. The Caldron this year, as always, is the result of six months of the most intensive absorption of which high school journalists are capable.

With the opening of school in September, the newly appointed staff held a meeting and made plans for serious work. All during the school year, editors and managers did their part of the job unceasingly, consulting assistants and insisting that all work be on hand at a specified date.

The position of editor and his associate were filled this year by George McComb and Mary E. Crosbie. Their duties to the year book were never neglected in spite of extra activities in which they took part, George in Hi-Y, Student Players, Quill and Scroll, and the Honor Society; and Mary Elizabeth in Sorosis, Quill and Scroll, Friendship, and Honor Society.

Leota Wright, business manager, also has a commendable record. She has been a member of various school organizations and has served in various positions on the Spotlight, this last term as editor's assistant.

First row: Helen Dessauer, Mildred Miner, Neva William, Leota Wright, Roberta Aldred, Grace Leslie.

Second row: Virginia Blosser, Miss Leah F. Austin, Hoy McConnell, Dick Vogelsang, Lawrence Roop.

CALDRON STAFF

The art editor, Grace Leslie, and her assistant, Virginia Blosser, deserve much praise for their part in beautifying the annual. Both girls have done commendable work in the art department during their entire high school career.

Senior editors, Betty Van Arnam and Joe Williams, have seen to the photographing and assembling of 1930 graduates, and the record of their high school activities.

Other members of the staff who have contributed their talents to the issue are John Bastain, circulation manager; Helen Dessauer and Reinhold Allwardt, club editors; Ruth Wilkening and Cecil Soo, department editors; Mary Weaver, Roberta Aldred, Lawrence Roop, and Robert Spice, sports editors; Mildred Miner and Don Wilson, feature editors; Fritz Schafer and Larry Levy, snapshot editors; Marguerite Rohrbaugh and Gordon Foster, campaign managers; Clara Mae Guy and Hoy McConnell, junior editors; Rachel Ochstein and Dick Vogelsang, sophomore editors; and Neva Williams and Norman S. Bosell, freshman editors.

Miss Leah F. Austin, faculty advisor of publications, has supervised the entire work.

SPOTLIGHT

News traveled quickly throughout the castle, Central High School, and the realm surrounding the court because of the splendid work of a large corps of journalists, the Spotlight staff. Disseminating the news proved both work and pleasure.

This year's Spotlight staff is the largest that the school has ever known and the editors have found it difficult to find tasks for all. The staff has been about equally divided between boys and girls.

Larry Levy directed the issue of the paper the first semester and under his efficient management the students received 16 papers brimming over with news and features of the school. Special editions during his regime were the Thanksgiving and Christmas issues. He was assisted by an excellent staff consisting of the following: June James, news editor; John Bastian, advertising manager; Don Wilson and Clara Mae Guy, circulation managers; Marguerite Rohrbaugh, managing editor; Mary Ellen Heit, assistant news editor; Dick Vogelsang, make-up editor; Anna Doran, Virginia Blosser, Leota Wright, Fritz Schafer, Gladys Doenges, copy editors; Kenneth Murphy, Max Kaplan, Mary Hosey, Sam Edlavitch, Hoy McConnell, and Jack Rittenhouse, feature writers; Lawrence Roop, Betty Van Arnam, Roberta Aldred, Gordon Davidson, Billy Harvuot, Neva Williams, Bob Spice, sport writers; Mary Elizabeth Crosbie, exchange editor.

The price of the paper was reduced to 50 cents for the semester, and by this plan the number of subscriptions was practically doubled.

THEY SCATTER THE NEWS

From February to June, capable Betty VanArnam was at the helm. Two tournament issues were put out by the staff in combination with North Side and South Side High Schools. Lawrence Roop served as editor of this particular issue. Larry Levy took over the position of student advisor for the Spotlight, and John Bastian became business manager. Other staff positions were: make-up editors, June James, Dick Vogelsang; news editors, Mary Ellen Heit, Sam Edlavitch; editorial assistant, Leota Wright; advertising manager, Laurence Coleman, assisted by Max Kernen, Simon Ackerman, George Irick and Earl Superfine; Clara Mae Guy and Fritz Schafer, circulation managers. Reporters for the two semesters were: Gladys Doenges, Emily Bedree, Barbara Beers, Jean Beugnot, Betty Boldt, Anna Jane Clark, Elizabeth Colling, Frances Berg, Loren Denny, Babette Dessauer, Fern Eckelberry, Betty Edlavitch, Marguerite Fraylick, Adele Gettys, Alice Harding, Geraldine Havert, Doris Hileman, Dorothy Hassan, Betty Hogle, George Koegele, Rose Marie Lichtenstadt, Mildred McCague, Mary McDermott, Marion McKay, Sara Master-son, Helen Miller, Lorraine Miller, Nelda Perkins, Catherine Porter, Ernestine Stumpf, Carmela Thomas, Dorothy Schmitt, Agnes Wilkening, Ruth Wilkening. Miss Leah Austin served as advisor.

Centralites in their younger days, twins, dogs, musicians, Blue and White—truly a hodge-podge. But it represents a cross-section of our school life.

THE NEGATIVE TEAM

The Negative Debating team enjoyed a very successful season by winning both its debates. The team was composed of three veterans as speakers, and the alternate, who was new in the art of debating. Central met and defeated the affirmative team of North Side in a very snappy fray held in the session room. This was the team's "crowning glory" as North Side is known to present some of the keenest competition in the state. Professor Cordier of North Manchester College awarded the decision to Central.

The team traveled to Warsaw for the first debate of the season and there won from the Warsaw affirmatives. Professor Conklin, also from Manchester, gave the win to Central. The team members, all seniors, are: Larry Levy, Kenneth Murphy, Marguerite Rohrbaugh, and Elmer Zweig. This quartet was captained by Marguerite Rohrbaugh, and had Elmer Zweig as alternate.

AFFIRMATIVE DEBATERS

The Affirmative Debating team was composed this year of three new members and only one veteran. The team was successful to a large degree although South Side's Negatives won the count in a very interesting, much enjoyed debate. Walter Helmke served as critic judge and highly complimented the work of both teams. The Huntington Vikings went down in defeat before our fighting affirmatives. At this contest Rev. William E. Clark acted as judge.

The team was composed of Sam Edlavitch, only veteran and also captain, Mary Ellen Heit, Agnes Wilkening, and Max Kaplan, alternate. This is an all-junior team and gives promise of being one which next year will present plenty of opposition to the best teams in the district.

Miss Rosza Tonkel coaches its debaters and much of their success is due to her interest and inspiration. This is her second year at Central High School.

THE PUBLIC SPEAKING DEPARTMENT

Last year the public speaking department began to talk of a speakers' bureau, for the purpose of supplying programs for activity periods on Monday mornings. In September, for the first time in Central, such a bureau was organized. Mr. Croninger commended this work. The second semester the bureau was reorganized and functioned successfully.

Two programs of note were sponsored by the speech department during the year. The first program was given by the students on "What Armistice Day Means to Us." The speakers were Marianne Cowan, Mary Ellen Heit, Robert Geake; all three gave an excellent treatise on citizenship. Following these Jack Rittenhouse, who attended the World Jambouree, spoke on "New Captains and Old Dreams." Preceding the speakers, Jean Forsythe sang a group of World War songs. The service closed with the pledge to the flag, directed by LaVerne DeHaven, and prayer by the Rev. William E. Clark.

The second program was given in collaboration with the history and music departments, in honor of Lincoln's birthday. Colonel David N. Foster, one of Fort Wayne's leading citizens and a Civil War veteran, was the guest of honor. It was a morning that juniors and seniors of Central will long remember. Colonel Foster related personal experiences and talked of Harper's Ferry and Fort Sumpter in a familiar manner that impressed the entire student body. Appropriate orchestra music lent to the atmosphere of the morning. Lawrence Levy was the chairman for both programs.

It was suggested at the first of the year that a scrap book be kept. All articles of interest to pupils in the course were to be clipped and pasted in the book. Dorothy Schmitt and Ruth Wilkening offered to make the covers and keep the book up to date. They did a very good job. At the end of each semester the book was read.

Mary Ellen Heit, a member of the department, was chosen to be the presiding chairman for the January educational meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club. Girls from all the high school participated in this program. Those from Central's speech department besides Mary Ellen were Vivian Young, Marianne Cowan, and June James.

NATIONAL FORENSIC LEAGUE

Early in the spring of '29, the charter of Central's first honorary society was received by eight eager members, and at the 1929 public speaking banquet, Chapter 64 of the National Forensic League was installed in the high school. The club was instituted with the following officers: Morgan Lewis, president; Charles Bond, vice-president; Hillis Harris, secretary and treasurer. Other charter members were Sam Edlavitch, Marguerite Rohrbaugh, Kenneth Murphy, Lawrence Levy and Miss Rosza Tonkel.

In September, 1929, an organization meeting was held where Lawrence Levy was elected president, Marguerite Rohrbaugh, vice-president, Kenneth Murphy secretary, and Sam Edlavitch, librarian. At the public speaking banquet held this year Mary Ellen Heit and Agnes Wilkening were accepted into the club.

Membership in the club is very exclusive as ten points, obtained through meritorious work in speech, are necessary for admittance. Points are awarded on the following basis: for participating in a lost debate, 6 points; for participating in a debate won, 12 points; captain of a team, 1 point. Points are also awarded for participation in other inter-scholastic contests.

Four degrees are given, a degree of merit for 10 points, a degree of honor for 30 points, degree of excellence for 60 points, and degree of distinction for 100. To date the following degrees have been awarded: degree of merit, Agnes Wilkening, Mary Ellen Heit; degree of honor, Sam Edlavitch, Kenneth Murphy, Lawrence Levy; degree of excellence, Marguerite Rohrbaugh.

SPEAKERS OF MERIT

Of great interest every year to all students are the extemporaneous contests. In the second one of the year, Sam Edlavitch was the first student to win the Rohrbaugh Cup for Extemporaneous Speaking. In the final contest, after one elimination contest, he was given first place, with Lawrence Levy second. The Rohrbaugh Cup is the gift of Marguerite Rohrbaugh to replace the Benner Cup which she had won the first semester.

After winning the eliminations in which the entire public speaking department participated, Kenneth Murphy represented Central in the county eliminations of the Constitutional Orational Contest held March 21 at the North Side High School. Kenneth competed with six other contestants from Central Catholic, St. Augustine's Academy, South Side, North Side, Huntertown, and Woodburn. Kenneth was awarded fourth place.

Central was represented in state contests twice this year in two widely separated branches of activities, athletic and forensic. Besides sending the basketball team to the state tournament, Central was represented in the State Discussion Contest by Marguerite Rohrbaugh. She won second place and a silver medal. Marguerite was made Central's representative without an elimination contest, and, after several weeks of careful preparation, she won the County Contest, and on April 11, won the District Contest at Angola, against stiff competition.

On April 25, Marguerite went to Bloomington, where she participated in the semi-finals with thirteen others. She was one of the 6 best of the 14 and was therefore entered in the finals. Here she was awarded second place.

McCLOUD CUP

The McCloud Citizenship Cup, symbolical of good scholarship, participation in activities, and fine moral character, is this year awarded to Betty Van Arnam and George McComb. The best girl and boy citizen of Central, chosen by the student body, have their names engraved on this emblem of appreciation which occupies a distinctive position in the trophy case.

Betty, throughout her whole high school course, has been prominent in activities adaptable to her: athletics, classes, and publications. She is editor-in-chief of the Spotlight, senior editor of the Caldron, is an outstanding basketball player, and has a high scholastic record. It would be hard indeed to find a better girl citizen than Betty.

George has proved himself a gentleman. In his unassuming way he has won the respect and admiration of his fellow students and has made an enviable record in all the activities in which he has participated.

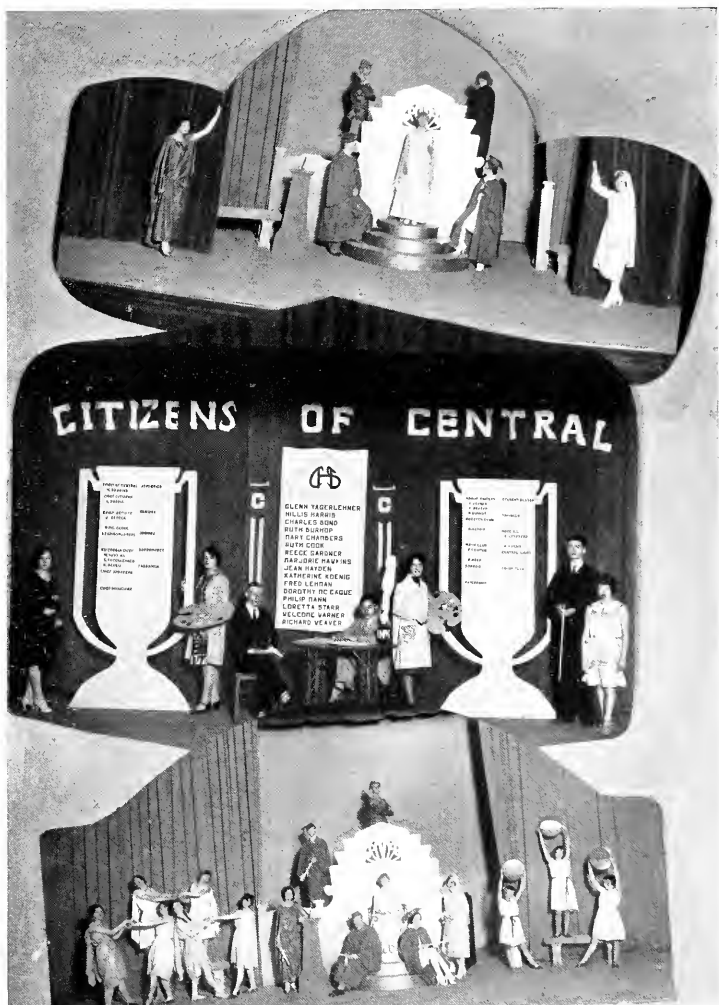

This cup was donated to the school two years ago by Miss Erdean McCloud. The best citizens are chosen by vote of the clubs and student council.

ENTERTAINMENT ROYAL

In the great medieval castle, known throughout the countryside as "Central High School," many forms of entertainment were presented for the benefit of the inmates and the friends. At the Christmas season an elaborate performance was staged, the play presented being called the "Masque of the Two Strangers." This was an allegorical fantasy in which the characters were such abstract figures as Joy, Laughter, Dance, and Song; Fame, Power, and Riches; Service, Hope, and Sorrow. The princess Douce-Coeur, portrayed by Dorothy Schmitt, a fair lady residing within the portals of the Castle, is beset with these various emotions and contending forces. The theme of the play consists of the struggle between Love and Sorrow to prevail over the Princess, and of course all-prevailing Love is victorious. Other members of the cast were Rachel Ochstein, Sara Masursky, Mary Alice Stewart, Jean Forsythe, Ruth Bittler, Helene Smith, Helen Dessaucr, Sam Edlavitch, David Falk, George McComb, and Walter Ehrman.

This charming presentation was given in the Castle Court which had been especially decorated for the occasion. The princess' throne had been moved out into the Court and the Castle carpenters, David Falk, John Bastian, Julian Falk, Fritz Schafer, and Water Ehrman, had erected a dais on which to put it. They built it near the great sun dial and covered it with greens and growing plants. The entire production was under the direction and supervision of Miss Marjorie Suter, who admirably coached all plays within the Castle's walls.

During the past year she also had charge of two very clever one act plays. One, "The Municipal Davenport," was presented in the park adjoining the Castle. Mary Ellen Heit and Hoy McConnell took part in this, which was quite different from the majority of the plays previously presented, because of the fact that the lines of the players were only in monosyllables. The other of this pair was of a more serious nature and may even be said to have a moral. "Finders Keepers" was the name of it and Marguerite Rohrbaugh, Elizabeth Porter, and Lawrence Levy comprised the cast. It was very favorably received by all who saw it, so favorably in fact, that a second performance was given. However, Miss Rohrbaugh was the only member from the Central Castle cast to participate, the other two players representing nearby castles. The play was entered in a city contest and took second place. Miss Sutter is to be complimented not only on this excellent showing but also on all the other things which she has undertaken. Toward the close of the year she will have charge of the annual Commencement ritual.

COMPANIONS ON OUR JOURNEY

As I neared the end of the Path of High School, I paused a moment before the Well of Knowledge and saw in retrospect my journey on the Road to Success. For a moment I stood with bent head, wrapped in thought, but suddenly a great blare or trumpets startled me. There was a sound as of the tramping of many feet, and the harmony of youthful voices raised in song floated, clear and strong, into the air.

Around the bend in the road, past the Fountain of Activity, came a motley crowd singing now joyously, now sadly, and bearing bright-colored banners which rippled and danced in the sunlight.

"Stop!" I cried, as they approached the Well of Knowledge. "Who are ye and whence do ye come?"

The four foremost figures stepped forth and presented to my sight a Greek warrior, a tall, black-haired boy, a sad-eyed young man with a towel wrapped around his disheveled head, and a lawyer.

"We come from the great land of the English," said the latter. "May I present the far-famed Odysseus, David Balfour, Sidney Carton, and myself, Edmund Burke. We represent four years in English, and we are great friends of those who inhabit the gray Castle of Central."

"Move on, move on! Veni, vidi, vici," announced a grim voice, and three white-clad figures stalked sternly past. The one who had spoken paused only long enough to announce "I am the great Caesar. My companions are the immortal Cicero and Aeneas, lords of the language of Latin. Caveat emptor!" and he stalked off.

But I was already engrossed in the next arrivals, grotesque, angular, animated blocks. Before I could voice a question the largest spoke, "Algebra, geometry, and trigonometry are we. College requirements we'll be." With a final chorus of hoarse cracks, they skipped off.

Four graceful damsels next danced gayly before me. They represented Art, Music, Public Speaking, and Drama, all of which helped brighten the Castle of Central. After performing a lovely scarf dance, they tripped gracefully down the road, leaving the stage to the solitary figure approaching.

Something forlorn and yet majestic about him stirred by memory. "Why, it is Napoleon!" I cried.

"Napoleon and History," said the figure. "I embody both, and in both I am symbolical of the contributions of the past. Take your heritage and make of it something monumental, something to make the world a better place because you have lived in it." Somberly the figure stalked on, and I followed slowly and thoughtfully. But as I gazed down the road, I saw the multitude bathed in a rosy light. It seemed as though the glow permeated the whole atmosphere, and suddenly I knew that by their aid the inhabitants of the Castle of Central would reach the summit of the Mountain of Success.

RECOGNITION DAY

The Recognition Day Program for this year is known as "The Tapestry Weaver." This program is given every year in order to recognize the outstanding activities of the seniors. The main characters will be The Weaver, Mary Ellen Heit; The Ballad Maker, Marguerite Rohrbaugh; The Pipes, James Throp, and The Reporter, Lawrence Levy.

The parts of the Pillars of Central will be taken by Lawrence Roop, Elmer Zweig, Norma Lewerenz, and Anna Linnemeyer. The Shield Bearers, representing the Spirit of Central, will be George McComb, Betty Van Arnam, Albert Franke, Mary Weaver, Jack Rittenhouse, Mildred Miner, Kenneth Murphy, Mary Elizabeth Crosbie, Maurice Lahmeyer, Marianne Cowan, Sam Elliott, Virginia Blosser, Joe Williams, Meta Schulz, Evelyn Horning, John Bastian, Helen Dessauer, and Fitzhugh Lyons.

The representatives of the clubs or activities are chosen by the faculty advisors. They are as follows: Brush and Pencil, Grace Leslie and Virginia Blosser; C.G.A.A., Mary Weaver and Florence Rhine; Boosters, Joe Williams and Sam Elliott; Co-op. club, Paul Kroehl and Herbert Manth; Radio club, Paul Luecke and Willard Lenz; Sorosis, Norma Lewerenz and Meta Schulz; Math club, Elmer Zweig and Ralph Henschen; Dramatics, George McComb and David Falk; Spocal, Lawrence Levy and George McComb; Boys' Athletics, Albert Franke and Fitzhugh Lyons; Music, Maurice Lahmeyer and James Throp; Honor Society, Norma Lewerenz and Anna Linnemeyer; Inter-Club Council, Evelyn Horning; Debate, Lawrence Levy and Marguerite Rohrbaugh. These names will be placed upon the tapestry at the back of the stage.

The manuscript for this was written by Mrs. Vera Lane.

COMMENCEMENT RITUAL

The Commencement Ritual of 1930 will be known as "The Beautiful Enemy." The part of the Spirit of Central will be taken by Helen Dessauer. Other parts are The Knight, Elmer Zweig; The Minstrel, Maurice Lahmeyer; The Sentinel, Fitzhugh Lyons; The Voice, Jean Forsythe; Central Boy, George McComb and Central Girl, Betty Van Arnam.

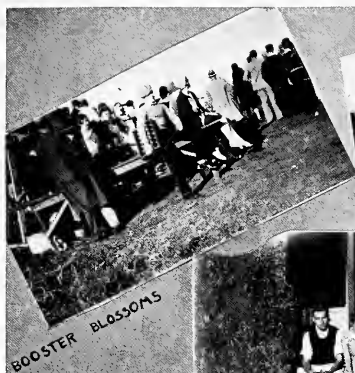

The Helpers and Servers will be Inspiration, Evelyn Horning; Thought, Marguerite Rohrbaugh; Truth, Evelyn Hunt; Courage, Marianne Cowan; Endurance, Norma Lewerenz and Sacrifice, Ruth Wilkening.

The theme is that of the effort of achievement. The Spirit of Central is to those trying to find the way "The Challenger", whose face is veiled, whose full beauty is unseen until effort opens the eyes of her children to her full meaning.

The Ritual is played upon a series of elevations constructed according to Miss Suter's directions by the Manual Training Department. Mrs. Vera Lane was the author of the ritual.

Ferocious Tiger, bold Indian, grotesque horse beg your attention on this page. The glare of the huge bonfire recalls the excitement of football days past.

A CIRCUS OF FUN

The artist has visioned Centralites, because of personal characteristics, as circus animals.

Monkey of school — Monkey of our show — RICHARD PAUL VOGELSANG.

Elephants are quick tempered and pleasingly plump. For that reason we present (sound A please) CLARA MAE GUY.

Every circus has a giraffe, so we present our prize long necker—MILDRED ELIZABETH LINNEMEYER.

Wild, especially with the women. Hog, because he imitates one when food is free. For your entertainment, the Wild Hog—ROBERT GERSON WEISS.

Swans are high headed, so we offer the senior—IRENE LOUISE KEIM—as our swan.

Temperature equal air is personified in our polar bear—and what a bear hug—DOROTHY RUTH SCHMITT.

A zebra is known to be a sport model jackass. A snappy dresser that crochets and lips—WILLIAM RYAN ALDRICH.

The dark skin snake who steals other men's women—SAMUEL EDLAVITCH.

Eagles are known for high flying. The champion hiflyer of our show—the eagle RUTH BARBARA BITTLER.

Supposedly, hippopotami are young, sophisticated, and fat. For your approval—JOSEPH LYLE TUCKER.

Next, there is the deer. A more genuine lady, sweeter girl, and lovelier personality can't be found at Central. The deer MARY ELLEN HEIT.

Our grand finale is the real jackass of our circus. The genuine jackass—LARIBEE ROBERT VAN DEVENTER.
